

AT Tidbits--Summer Edition, 2014

Video Clips

Teachers, parents and students--Need something to help organize all of your "stuff" online such as web clippings, notes, photos, or to-do lists? Evernote is an easy-to-use, free app that helps you remember everything across all of the devices you use. Stay organized, save your ideas and improve your productivity! It works on Windows, Mac, Android, and iDevices and is FREE. It's been around for awhile and this is a wonderful tutorial to help get you started. Try something new:) Evernote Tutorial by Anson Alexander

FYI

Summertime is a great time for students to take a little time to brush up on their keyboarding skills. It's a wonderful thing to learn to be faster and more accurate! Take a look at these websites to give you a keyboard workout.

Back in the February Edition of my "Tidbits" I wrote about Symbaloo. If you haven't tried it out yet, here is a link to a page from Jackson ISD that has some Elementary web mixes that will link to numerous educational websites. These are great practice activities for the summertime and a short video will explain how to make your own web mix.

If you're looking for students to brush up on their math skills over the summer try these websites. They have math games from elementary through high school level.

App Alert

Disneynature Explore--This free app will appeal to young and old alike. Disney has come up with an augmented reality app to experience fun animal-behavior game play. Don't miss this one!

If you haven't downloaded any of the Toca Boca or Dr. Panda apps yet for your preschool through early elementary students/children, these will be great summer fun. Great for language development as there is lots to talk about!

Teachers, parents, and students create your own online magazine with the Zite app. It gets updated daily with the topics that interest you. Zite analyzes millions of articles each day to bring you the best in over 40,000 topic areas. Choose some serious topics and fun ones to help keep you current in your areas of interest.

Have a relaxing, fun summer and don't forget to check out my Twitter feed @RosanneBurden. Look for more new Tidbits coming in September!
